

Title Myths and Truths about online Learning.
Speaker Dr. Terry Anderson

Date October 4, 2012
Location Edmonton Petroleum Club, 11110 – 108 Street
Time 5:00 PM – 8:00 PM

Price Members $35, Non-Members $45, Student Members $20
Registration <https://securegs.com/cipsab/>

Summary : This presentation challenges the audience to test their knowledge (and learn about) common myths and truth about online learning- especially as it compares to classroom based learning. It also notes the differences between the various types, delivery mechanisms and pedagogy of online learning as practices in Canada today.

Bio: Terry Anderson is Professor and researcher in the Technology Enhanced Knowledge Research Centre at Athabasca University - Canada's Open University. He has published widely in the area of distance education and educational technology and has co-authored or edited eight books and numerous papers. Terry is active in provincial, national, and international distance education associations and is a regular presenter at professional conferences. He teaches educational technology courses in Athabasca University Masters and Doctorate of Distance Education programs. His research interests focus on interaction and social media in educational contexts.

Terry is the director of CIDER - the Canadian Institute for Distance Education Research (cider.athabascau.ca) and the editor of the International Review of Research on Distance and Open Learning (IRRODL www.irrodl.org). The complete text of his edited book The Theory and Practice of Online Learning 2nd edition is available as an Open Access resource at http://www.aupress.ca/books/Terry_Anderson.php. This text was the winner of the 2009 Charles E. Wedemeyer Award for the outstanding book of 2008 awarded by the University Continuing Education Association. His homepage is at <https://landing.athabascau.ca/pg/profile/terrya> and his blog the "Virtual Canuck" is accessible at terrya.edublogs.org

"Dr. Anderson co-authored Online Conferences – Professional Development for a Networked Era an excellent look at continuing professional education, interactive technologies and the experiences of online conference organizers." - Eric von Stackelberg, I.S.P., ITCP.